World famous for its local wine and its remoteness. With a 105 berth harbor, this medieval town is the only tourist port and mooring facility in the Cinque Terre but the harbor still fills with fishing boats. The "Piazzetta" is the village center surrounded by its tall colorful houses, the twin Genoese Towers and the Ligurian gothic church of Santa Margherita D'Antiochia. Local cuisine focuses on fish specialties and outstanding wines (since Roman times). Look for the "Gambero Rosso" restaurant in the ancient section.
